ALUMNI HIGHLIGHT

Terry McMillan

After attending LACC, Terry McMillan earned a B.A. in journalism from UC Berkeley. Her first book, Mama, was published in 1987. It sold out its first printing after McMillan marketed the book herself, unhappy with the publicity it received from the publisher's promotion. Her third novel, Waiting to Exhale, made the New York Times bestseller list and sold over 3 million copies. Two of her novels, Waiting to Exhale and How Stella Got Her Groove Back, have been adapted into successful movies.

DID YOU KNOW?

From Farmland to School- LACC's Humble Beginnings

One of nine college campuses of the Los Angeles Community College District, what is now Los Angeles City College was originally a farm outside of Los Angeles. When the Pacific Electric Interurban Railroad connected downtown Los Angeles and Hollywood in 1909, the area began to develop rapidly. In 1914, the Los Angeles Board of Education moved the California State Normal School, a school to train teachers, from downtown Los Angeles to Vermont Avenue in Hollywood.
